The Seed for a Good Life

---

César loses his job...

Now he's in search of the seed for a good life.

The Story of My Life

César gets bad news from his boss.

César breaks the news to his wife, Gabriela.
She reminds him of all his skills and experience.

César Starts His Search for a Job

César goes to a restaurant where he used to work.
The manager, Flor, offers him a temporary job.

One of my cooks will be out for a few weeks. It's not permanent, but the job is yours if you want it.

The job doesn't start right away. César can't wait.

Of course, I want it. I can start right now.

I'm sorry, César... But it doesn't start until the end of next week.

Flor, I need a job right now.

César, you put the audio system in this restaurant, remember? Have you ever put a radio into a car?

Flor has an idea for César.

Yes. I've done that. I used to help my friend who works with cars back in Ecuador.

I just got a new car stereo. They put it in at a shop near the baseball stadium. There are a lot of car shops in that area. You might find something there.

That's a great idea!

The Search Continues

César goes to three car shops.

At the third shop, the manager offers César a chance for a job.

At the End of a Long Day

César has another skill. He's an artist.

He is on the phone with a friend who can sell his paintings.

18

Gene, if you can sell any of my paintings, that would be great. I need the money.

That was Gene. He is going to take some of my paintings to sell again.

That's great! How did it go at the restaurant?

The manager offered me a temporary job. But I might have another part-time job too—putting in car stereos.

Gabriela invites César to visit the library career center with her.

20

That's fantastic. Let's go into the library. They have a career center.

I don't have time for the library.

21

I'm exhausted. Maybe some other time.

Back home, César makes some paintings for his friend to sell.

22

The Best News All Week

César shows his skills and gets the job.

You did well, César! The job is three days a week. You can start the day after tomorrow.

Great! That's the best news I've heard all week.

How much is the pay?

It's minimum wage. Talented guys like you get tips too.

The Seed for a Good Life

César is more relaxed now. He enters a community garden close to home.

Do you own all of this land?

No. This is a community garden. It belongs to the community.

César meets Simon. He is an organizer of the community garden.

I'm César.

Nice to meet you, César. My name is Simon. I'm one of the organizers of the garden.

What do you do for a living?

Good question. I just lost a job at a hardware store. But I got a new part-time job, putting in car radios. I'm also going back to work at a restaurant.

César wants a career. Simon asks him a good question.

I'm always going from one job to another. I'm tired of it. I want a career.

Have you gone back to school or done any career training?

Simon gives César a big idea.

No.

What are you waiting for? You have to plant seeds for a garden to grow...

Education is the seed for a career—a good life!

They talk about resumes.

You are going to need a resume too.

What do you put on a resume?

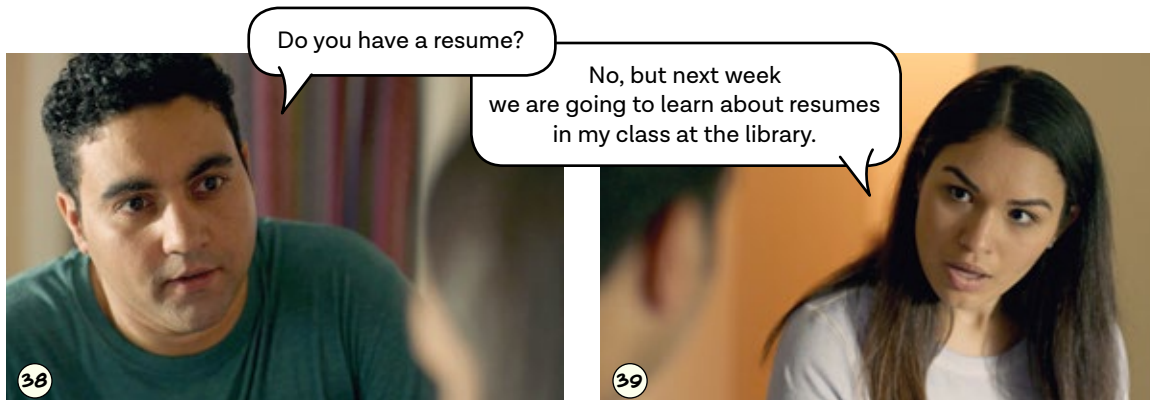

Oh, you know... Your work experience and skills. A person with your skills can make a good resume.

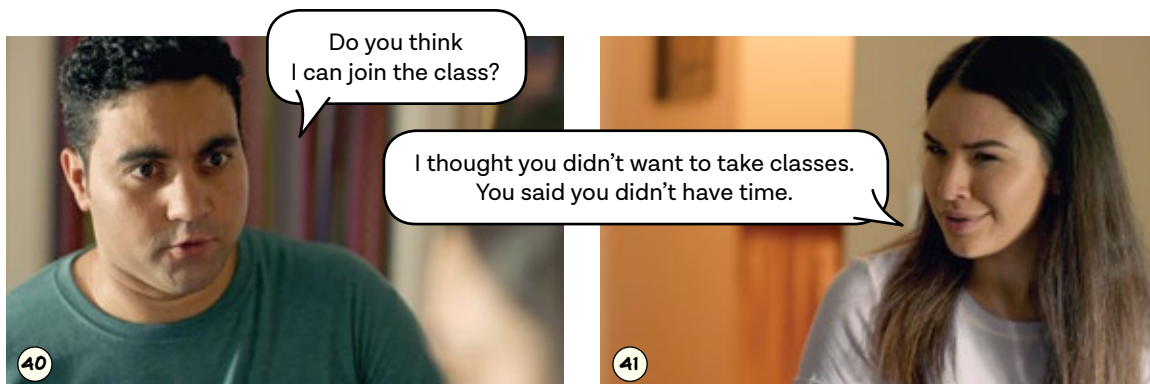

Wise man!

Do You Have a Resume?

Gabriela takes a free class at the library. She is going to learn about resumes.

César is interested in the class. Gabriela can't believe her ears.

César has a big idea. His daughter, Xio, wonders where her dad got the idea.

can't believe her ears = very surprised by the words she hears

Meet Nana Aidoo

A woman from the career center in the library, Nana Aidoo, is teaching Gabriela's class what to put on a resume.

44 This is what you put on a resume...

45 Who you worked for—the employer, the company.

46 What you did—your job title and a short work description.

47 Where you did it—New York City, Santa Domingo, Shanghai...

48 When you did it—the months and years.

49 Together... Who, What, Where, When!

50 That's what you put on a resume.

Students ask some questions.

50 Is that it? Is that all you put on a resume?

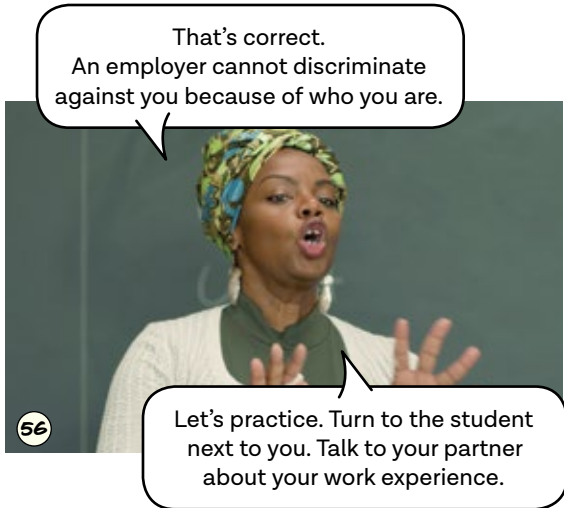

51 You can also put your education and the languages you speak.

52 What about your romantic experience?!

53 And your picture?

54 No pictures!
A resume is not for online dating!
The purpose of a resume is to get a job interview.
You don't put information about your private life on a resume.

55 I heard that in an interview in this country, the employer cannot ask you about your private life— if you are married or single or about your sexuality or religion.

César introduces himself to a classmate, Jian.

César tells Jian about IDNYC—an ID card for all New Yorkers.

Interview Workshop

César returns to Gabriela's class to learn about interviews.

In a job interview, you introduce yourself with a strong handshake and a smile.

You make eye contact. You look at the person when you introduce yourself. You don't look down or look away.

63

Okay... What are some things you can say in an interview to sell yourself—to convince an employer to give you a job?

I will say I'm a quick learner.

64

65

Wonderful, César. But the employer will ask you to give an example. So, César, can you give an example of when you learned something quickly on a job?

Yes. In my job, I put radios into cars. The other day, I had to put in a new kind of radio. I asked my coworker to show me and I learned very fast.

Nana tells the students other useful things to say in an interview. The students practice saying the lines.

These are some other things you can say in a job interview.

I'm a good team player.

I'm a good problem solver.

67

68

I'm a good problem solver.
I'm a good team player.
I'm a very hard worker.

I'm a very hard worker.

66

69

70

Great! Remember to give examples like César did.

Nana gives examples of careers.

Nana recommends a free NYC service called Workforce1.

* Workforce1 provides career counseling and help with resumes for everyone with an ID card. It also helps people who are authorized to work to find jobs.

Look Who's Here!

After class, Gabriela shows Jian some information about IDNYC.

César recognizes a friend.

77 IDNYC has many benefits. You can use it to open a bank account, to get into buildings. It makes you feel like you are a New Yorker.

78 Simon! What are you doing here?

78 César! Good to see you, my friend. I'm here to pick up some books.

78 Simon, this is my wife...

78 Nice to meet you, Gabriela.

78 How do you know my name?

Gabriela meets Simon.

79 I met César at the community garden. We talked about careers and many things.

80 What's the matter, César? You don't talk to your wife?!

81 No, I do... I asked her if she has a resume!

81 So, you are the one who told my husband about resumes and education.

Simon has a big idea. Gabriela has heard it before!

82 Yes! Education is the seed for a good life.

82 Right, César?! Right... Let me introduce you to my friend, Jian. We're getting information about IDNYC.

83 I've decided... I'm going to get one!

83 IDNYC is a great thing! It opens many doors.

83 Yes. It makes you feel like you belong here.

The Right Place

César goes to Workforce1. He asks about career counseling and finding a job.

Welcome to Workforce1.

Thank you. My name is César Cielo. I want to find out about career training and job opportunities.

Very good. Do you have a resume?

Yes, I do.

Beautiful. Fill out a registration form and you will meet with a career counselor. The counselor will help you find a career that is right for you.

Do you know about any specific career opportunities? And, can you help me get an interview?

Yes. We have a calendar with new career opportunities every month. The career counselor will tell you more. You came to the right place.

César takes a deep breath and smiles. He's on the path to a career.
